

Hi Everyone,

I'm hoping that those nearby will come to my reception for
"Tribal Heart" this coming Saturday.

I'd love to see you.

~ TRIBAL HEART ~

An Exhibition of Native American Life and Culture
Photographs by Gail Russell

July 1st ~ August 27th 2023 ~
Opening Reception ~ July 15th, 5-7 pm
All are Welcome!

Lyle's Creations ~ 100 S. Plaza Unit B Taos NM 87571
575-770-1507 gailrussellphotoartist.com

If you are nearby,
I invite you to come to my Artists Reception of "Tribal Heart" A Photo Exhibition of Native American Life and Culture
Saturday July 15th 5-7PM

Lyle's Creations ~ 100 S. Plaza Unit B Taos , NM 87571

This is a collection of works spanning many years with Native American life and culture.

In the early 1970s I began getting to know and be a good neighbor where I could, with spiritual elders and native spokespeople visiting my area. It was a "chop wood carry water" experience that has guided my life ever since.

"Our elders have much to say, often not in words...sometimes only with a quiet smile or in the way they hold an ear of corn. Today, as for all time, there are two worlds: the world of the prevailing culture and the world of Tradition and Spirit,"

If you are far away, perhaps you can check out
LINK: <https://gailrussellphotoartist.com/product-category/tribal-heart/>

VISUAL ARTS

Gail Russell's Tribal Heart

"Goodmorning"

STAFF REPORT

GAIL RUSSELL, TAOS-BASED photographer, artist and designer, will present her latest photo exhibition, "Tribal Heart," at Lyle's Creations located on the Taos Plaza. The show will be available for viewing from July 1 through Aug. 27, with an opening reception on Saturday July 15 from 5-7 p.m.

The exhibition will present a collection of photographs spanning many years with Native American life and culture. In the words of the photographer, "In the early 1970s I began getting to know and be a good neighbor where I could, with spiritual elders and native spokespeople visiting my area. It was a 'chop wood carry water' experience that has guided my life ever since."

The exhibition will feature a collection of photographs spanning many years with Native American life and culture. In the words of the photographer, "In the early 1970s I began getting to know and be a good neighbor where I could, with spiritual elders and native spokespeople visiting my area. It was a 'chop wood carry water' experience that has guided my life ever since."

by the Traditional Elders of the Hopi tribe to come to their reservation in Arizona to document the devastation Peabody Coal caused to their land. From that time on, she has been involved with Native American causes and continues to this day.

In Russell's own words, "There has er of corn. Today, as for all time, there are two worlds: the world of the prevailing culture and the world of Tradition and Spirit," says Russell.

Russell studied at the Allegri Knox School of Fine Art, Pratt Institute, and The School of Visual Arts. In 1968, she received her BFA from Pratt and has never put it down. She studied independently with photo surrealist Jerry Uelsmann and received her MFA in Photography at Aperture Photographic Workshops, Manhattan, N.Y. In 1978, Russell moved to the Taos area and exhibited her work widely and continuously since then, also branching into apparel design. In 2000, Russell was named a Taos Living Master for her photography and is honored as one of the Remarkable Women of Taos.

"And they became friends"

by the Traditional Elders of the Hopi tribe to come to their reservation in Arizona to document the devastation Peabody Coal caused to their land. From that time on, she has been involved with Native American causes and continues to this day.

In Russell's own words, "There has always been an interest in spirituality based on nature and I often wondered how life was in this place before the influence of the outside world. I realized that most of the people I knew in the 1970s and 80s were raised by their grandparents. These elders' parents and grandparents had the tools to be forcefully acculturated. The grandparents were the closest to that knowledge and the stories and traditions that were passed along to the next generation.

Lakota grandmother Nellie Red Owl and Gail Russell founded The Adopt a Grandparent Program, designed to help the elderly. Adopt a Grandparent Program was a sustaining support to elders and their families on the Pine Ridge Reservation for more than 20 years.

"Our elders have much to say, often not in words...sometimes only with a quiet smile or in the way they hold an

"Ladder to Light"

COURTESY GAIL RUSSELL

COURTESY GAIL RUSSELL

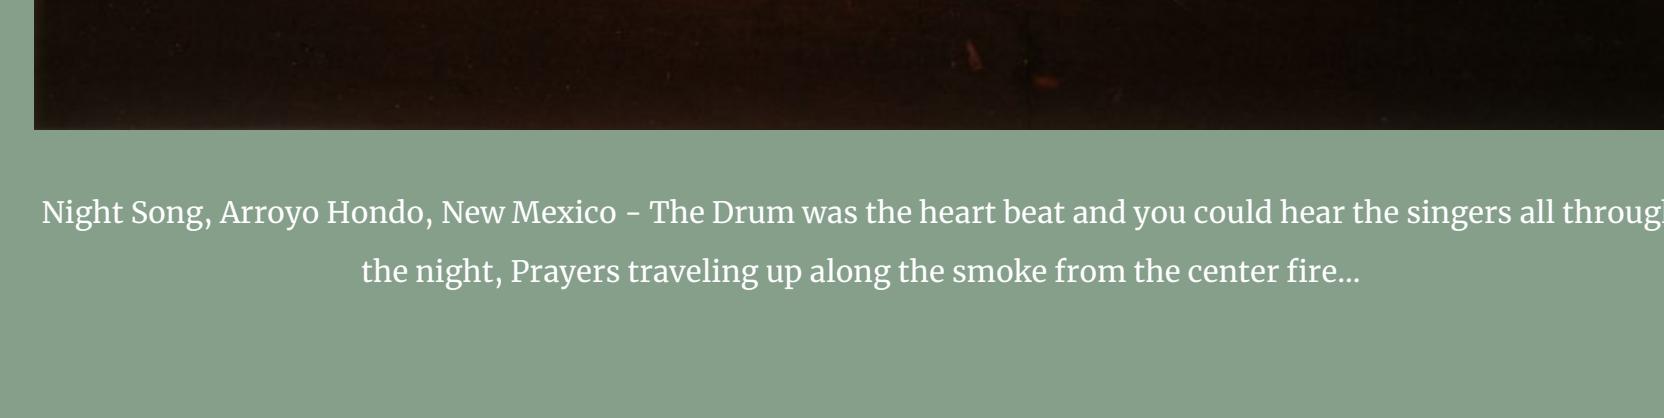

COURTESY GAIL RUSSELL

JULY 6 - 12, 2023 | TEMPO 31

Many Thanks to the Taos News for the lovely article about "Tribal Heart"

"Wishing everyone a safe, Lovely Summer!"

If you can't live without a photograph of mine,
give me a call/text and let's make it happen!"

Night Song, Arroyo Hondo, New Mexico - The Drum was the heart beat and you could hear the singers all through the night, Prayers traveling up along the smoke from the center fire...

Thank You All

who have been there for me over the years, and have sent messages of encouragement, congratulations, advice, and Love.

You are in my Heart!

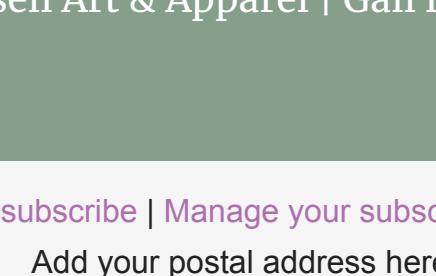

Gail Russell

gailrussellphotoartist.com

gailrussellartandapparel.com

575-770-1507

f  in

©2023 Gail Russell Art & Apparel | Gail Russell Photo Artist

Unsubscribe | Manage your subscription

Add your postal address here!